Welcome message from the editor in chief

Asaad Shujaa*

Greetings!

I would like to extend a very warm welcome to all my colleagues all over the world in this first ever edition of the Saudi Journal of Emergency Medicine.

We have been at the forefront of advancing medical education in the field of emergency in the MENA region and it was only a matter of time before we put out a specialized journal publication with contributions from colleagues internationally.

We aim to be a peer-reviewed publication accepting original contributions relevant to EM physicians.

The journal will feature research papers and clinical studies alongside useful articles pertaining to the training and practice of Emergency physicians.

The Saudi Journal of Emergency Medicine is an international, peer-reviewed publication featuring original contributions of interest to both the academic and practicing emergency physician. The journal aims to be interactive and include traditional research papers and clinical studies as well as articles focusing on the training of emergency physicians and on the practice of emergency medicine using clinical guidelines. We are also looking forward to receiving original case reports from your practice as well as information you feel is pertinent and of interest to colleagues in the field. Please feel free to write to me at (eic@sjemed.com) for any suggestions or feedback for anything else you would like to see included in the journal. We hope to deliver a platform for EM in the Middle East region to publish pioneering material to help build upon our clinical knowledge as well as hone our practical skills with a view to becoming worldwide leaders in healthcare in EM.

I hope you all enjoy reading the first edition and would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who made contributions to make this journal possible.

Warm Regards,
Dr. Asaad Shujaa
